General Declaration

“And thou shalt teach men ordinances and laws, and thou shalt show them the way wherein they must walk, and the work that they must do; moreover, they shall provide out of all the people, able men such as fear God, men of truth, hating covetousness, and place such over them to be rulers of thousands, and rulers of hundreds, rulers of fifties, and rulers of tens” (Exodus, chapter xviii; Vs. 20 – 21)

At all times, nothing can be more natural, and at this time nothing can be more reasonable, than that those who have common rights to protect, and common interests to defend should act together and know each other. It is by division that the benevolent objects of true patriots are frustrated, and their best and noblest efforts for the public good defeated. In these distant but important appendages of the Commonwealth, it must be obvious to every loyal and reflecting mind, that a union of intelligence, an increase of means, and knowledge of each other are essential.

The Loyal Orange Association is formed by persons desirous of supporting, and to the utmost of their power, the principals and practices of the Christian religion, to maintain the laws and constitution of the country, afford assistance to distressed members of the Association, and otherwise promote such laudable and benevolent purposes as may tend to the due ordering of religion and Christian charity, and the supremacy of law, order and constitutional freedom.

It's members associate in honour of King William III, Prince of Orange, whose name they bear, and whose immortal memory they hold in reverence. They revere the memory of that immortal Prince, not only as a patriot, a constitutional monarch, and a hero, but also as a true Christian; and hope in the adoption of his name, to emulate his virtues, by maintaining religion without persecution or trenching upon the rights of any.

The Orange Association lays no claim to exclusive loyalty, or exclusive Protestantism; but it admits no man within it's pale whose principals are not loyal, and whose creed is not Protestant. Disclaiming an intolerable spirit, the Association demands as an indispensable qualification, without which the greatest and wealthiest may seek admission in vain, that the candidate shall be deemed incapable of persecution or injuring anyone on account of their religious opinions; the duty of every Orangeman being to aid and defend all loyal subjects of every religious persuasion in the enjoyment of their constitutional rights.

In many quarters, where the true nature of the Orange Association is not properly known, its designs and objects have by some been misunderstood, and by others misrepresented. The Association is constituted upon the broadest principals of national freedom. It takes its stand upon the glorious principals of the Revolution of 1688; it lays its foundation in the field of British liberty; it disdains badge of faction, and knows no emblem save "The Altar and The Throne".

As the Prince of Orange was invited to England by a coalition of parties who united from a common sense of their sacred duty, to preserve their religion and liberties, so the Orange Association named after that immortal Prince, invites a similar combination, and calls upon Canadians to lay aside political feuds, and, like their illustrious ancestors, who signed and sealed the great Covenant of Freedom to sacrifice every private consideration, and establish a centralization of power to conserve the great blessings and privileges which we enjoy.

THE LOYAL ORANGE ASSOCIATION
Qualifications for Membership

(1) TOWARD GOD...An applicant for admission should have a sincere love and veneration of his Heavenly Father; a steadfast faith in Jesus Christ as the only mediator between God and Man; and a firm reliance in the guiding, witnessing, and sanctifying power of the Holy Spirit.

(2) TOWARD CROWN AND COUNTRY ...He should be loyal toward the Crown being Protestant, and the Dominion of Canada, the foundation of which is a Constitutional Monarchy. Ready to promote civil and religious liberty and uphold the rule of law in Canada

(3) TOWARD MANKIND ...He should be of temperate and kindly habits, striving to be an example to others, as a true Christian citizen. He should abstain from swearing and profane language, from dishonesty and intemperance of every kind. He should seek the welfare of others, be just, considerate and tolerant in his judgment, especially toward those who are opposed in faith and principals; ready to assist those who are needy or oppressed, and to promote brotherly love.

The Glory of God, the honour of his Sovereign, and the good of his Country should be the motives of all his actions.

The Orange Association in Canada

The "General Declaration" and "Qualifications for Membership outline basically the Principals and Purposes of the Association. The date of the first Orange Lodge in Canada is not officially known. Suffice to say, members of the Order who were among the earliest British settlers to the then British North America, carried with them the conviction and desire to maintain and protect the heritage of civil and religious liberty emanating from Reformation days, and secured by the Glorious Revolution of 1688-90.

In 1830, Ogle R. Gowan convened a meeting in Brockville Ontario, when representatives of Lodges in attendance agreed to unite and form the Grand Orange Lodge. The necessary steps were taken and in 1832, a Warrant signed by the then Grand Master of the Empire, Ernest Duke of Cumberland, was received by Brother Gowan.

By 1860, as membership increased and territorial development expanded, it became necessary to delegate area responsibility to various jurisdictions. In 1881, a system of Life Insurance was inaugurated, which required almost ten years to be generally accepted. In April 1890, the Canadian House of Commons approved a Bill to Incorporate the Grand Orange Lodge. The Act being assented to, known as 53 VICTORIA CHAPTER 105, granted the petitioners, members of the Grand Orange Lodge, together with such members of the said Grand Lodge...are hereby constituted a body corporate.

Henceforth, the Orange Association was recognized a legal entity, with authority to institute Lodges throughout Canada, and to operate a Benefit Fund generally known as Orange Insurance. An amendment to the aforesaid act was approved by the House of Commons in Canada in 1926, known as 16-17 GEORGE V. 1926.
